Selected Readings

“God wept, in order that God might do, with tears and compassion, what human beings do on behalf of their fellow human beings.”

– Potamius of Lisbon

“His tears were like the rain, and Lazarus like a grain of wheat, and the tomb like the earth. He gave forth a cry like that of thunder, and death trembled at his voice. Lazarus burst forth like a grain of wheat. He came forth and adored his Lord who had raised him.”

– Ephrem the Syrian

Luther Quote of the Day

“Therefore depart in peace, my soul; you have a faithful Father and Savior, who has taken you into His hands and will surely sustain you.”

The End of Ordinary Time

As we move toward the end of the church year, we remember the Saints who have gone before us on All Saints Sunday and celebrate Christ as Lord of all creation on Christ the King Sunday (11/25). We acknowledge the pain of our world and look with hope toward its redemption.
